Seminar

Human Trafficking uses force, fraud, or coercion to exploit someone for sex or labor. It is a crime hidden beneath the surface. The first step to combating human trafficking is to identify victims so they can receive support and services. While awareness about the issue is growing, human trafficking is still a fairly new recognized crime here.

Human Trafficking is a $150 billion dollar industry worldwide, according to the International Labor Organization. It is happening nearby, and survivors need a place for help and support. Take part in this day-long conference where you'll learn to identify survivors and how to help shed light on this issue and positively impact the life of survivors.

Disclosures

Contact hours

Upon successful completion, nurses, counselors and social workers will receive 5 contact hours; teachers will be awarded 5 professional development hours.

Disclosures

Criteria for judging successful completion of the seminar are attendance at the entire activity and submission of a completed evaluation tool. Be sure to check in before the workshop begins at the registration counter inside the Welcome Center entrance.

Please note: You are welcome to bring your own snacks and drinks with you. There is a cafeteria and vending with refreshments for purchase. Room temperatures may vary. Please dress accordingly.
