Illinois Criminal Justice Information Authority

To the Governor and the Honorable Members of the General Assembly:

Lori G. Levin

On behalf of the members and staff of the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Authority, I am pleased to present the Authority's Fiscal Year 2005 Annual Report. This report outlines the diverse nature and scope of our agency's work in grants administration, criminal justice research, and information systems in Illinois.

This fiscal year, federal funds were again targeted to anti-gun initiatives, drug law enforcement efforts, police safety equipment programs, and a variety of innovative programs for unserved and underserved victims of crime across Illinois.

Illinois vehicle theft declined for the 13th straight year, a direct result of Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Council efforts. Using funds paid annually by Illinois insurance companies, the Council expanded motor vehicle theft law enforcement with grant designations toward multijurisdictional task forces, special investigative teams, training, and other anti-theft efforts throughout the state. Reports of motor vehicle theft have dropped 46 percent in Illinois since the creation of the Council in 1991.

In the area of juvenile justice, the Authority continued to make balanced and restorative justice (BARJ) a research and funding priority. Staff began developing individualized balanced and restorative justice guidebooks designed to assist law enforcement officers, prosecutors, defense attorneys, judges, and juvenile probation professionals as they apply BARJ-based practices to their daily routines. In March 2005, the Authority was primary sponsor of a three-day conference that gave juvenile justice professionals the opportunity to learn more about the programmatic applications of balanced and restorative justice.

The Authority continued research and support efforts for Sheridan Correctional Center's Therapeutic Community program. Staff have been conducting a process and impact evaluation of the program since the center opened in 2004. Sheridan Correctional Center is the largest prison in the U.S. dedicated to reducing offender recidivism through the provision of substance abuse treatment and vocational programming.

The Illinois Integrated Justice Information System Implementation Board hosted a statewide Integrated Justice Summit in June 2005. More than 200 justice officials from 28 Illinois counties attended the event. The summit promoted the coordination of state and county efforts to achieve system integration and introduced the justice community to integration resources.

Finally, the Authority's award-winning website saw unprecedented usage by criminal justice professionals, educators, students, and members of the general public. More than 278,000 unique users visited the website in state fiscal year 2005, a 10 percent increase over the previous year. The number of publications downloaded from the site jumped 78 percent to nearly 310,500. In related news, new technology was implemented that allows staff to provide free web-based training to victim service providers using InfoNet, the Authority's state-of-the-art data collection system.

We will continue to collaborate with the criminal justice community, the legislature, and the general public as we work toward our mission of improving the administration of criminal justice in Illinois.

Illinois Integrated Justice Information System

Implementation Board

Moving forward to meet its objective of creating an electronic information-sharing network for justice information systems statewide, the Illinois Integrated Justice Information System (IJIS) Implementation Board met three major goals in FY05. With the help of Authority staff, the board facilitated and contributed to the implementation of the IJIS Strategic Plan; completed research for background documents of the Privacy Policy Subcommittee, and helped develop business cases for incorporation in the Board's tactical plan.

The effort to create electronically integrated technologies serving all units of municipal, county, and state government is a national priority. To build a system that efficiently serves the state's justice community, the IJIS Implementation Board directed its committees to move forward in FY05 with the development of a detailed tactical plan to take the project into its implementation phase.

The Board hosted a statewide Integrated Justice Summit in June 2005. More than 200 justice officials from 28 Illinois counties attended the event. The summit promoted the coordination of state and county efforts to achieve system integration and introduced the justice community to integration resources. Topics included global principles of information sharing; building business cases for justice integration; history and current status of the IJIS initiative; privacy concerns, and information about the Illinois Citizen and Law Enforcement Analysis and Reporting (I-CLEAR) system.

IJIS staff later published a comparison of data available in official and unofficial sources of criminal history record information. Criminal records filed in the state repository were compared for accuracy and timeliness with those privately compiled by companies that charge a fee for background checks.

The Board also began formulating a statewide comprehensive privacy policy that protects individual rights while allowing justice information to be collected. As part of this process, a master list of the privacy issues that confront the integration of Illinois' justice information systems was developed. The list includes privacy concerns involved with sharing traditional adult justice information and will be supplemented with additional issues as the Board begins to address sharing of juvenile justice, intelligence, and incident data.

Members of the Privacy Policy Subcommittee joined with Illinois State Police in FY05 to develop the I-CLEAR Information Sharing Policy. Skills learned during this creative process will be applied to generating the statewide IJIS Privacy Policy. The first phase of I-CLEAR, due in May 2006, will cover sharing of criminal history data, secretary of state photos, and sex offender registration information.

In developing a tactical plan for integrated justice, a business case also was completed with documentation pertaining to three areas of justice information sharing needs: orders of protection and warrants, especially in the state LEADS system; arrest booking and its impact on criminal history records, and police incident reports and the development of a statewide incident collection sharing system. These business plans will become part of a justice integration tactical plan that sets the stage for project implementation.

Gov. Blagojevich created the 26-member IJIS Implementation Board in 2003 to implement the Illinois Integrated Justice Information System 2003-2004 Strategic Plan. Authority and Illinois State Police staff support work of the Board, comprised of members of the justice community. Besides promoting the integration of justice information systems in Illinois, the board is charged with:

- Coordinating the development, adoption, and implementation of plans and strategies for sharing justice information.
- Coordinating the development of systems that enhance integration.
- Establishing standards to facilitate the electronic sharing of justice information.
- Promulgating policies that protect individuals' privacy rights related to the sharing of justice information.

Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Council

With the support of the insurance industry, the General Assembly established the Illinois Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Council in 1991 to combat vehicle theft, insurance fraud, and related crimes. The 11-member Council is made up of law enforcement and insurance industry officials. Day-to-day work of the Council is carried out by Authority staff.

The Council's responsibilities, as listed in the Illinois Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Act, include: assessing the scope of motor vehicle theft, particularly in those areas of the state with the highest theft rates; allocating funds made available for the purpose of the act, and developing and implementing strategies to combat motor vehicle theft.

The act requires that certain insurance companies pay into a special trust fund in the state treasury. Insurance companies licensed to write private passenger comprehensive coverage are required to pay $1 into the fund annually for each vehicle insured in the previous year. Collected and administered by the Council, contributions to the fund totalled $5.9 million in 2005.

The Council allocates grants supporting programs such as special auto theft task forces and

Federal and state grants

The Federal & State Grants Unit (FSGU) administers grant programs overseen by the Authority. Authorized under the Authority's power to receive and disburse grant money, this responsibility includes assuring compliance with federal and state regulations.

The Authority began administering federal grants in 1985, following the passage of the Justice Assistance Act and the Victims of Crime Act by Congress. In FY05, 20 staff members administered 965 individual grants under one state and 13 federal programs, with more than $52.3 million in disbursements for the fiscal year.

FSGU staff perform a variety of functions in developing, implementing, and monitoring state and local programs while ensuring compliance with numerous federal and state laws and guidelines. These tasks include planning, program development, technical assistance, coordination, and administration.

Anti-Drug Abuse Act

The federal Anti-Drug Abuse Act (ADAA) of 1988, also known as the Edward Byrne Memorial State and Local Law Enforcement Assistance Program, supports government programs that enable the enforcement of Illinois drug laws and help decrease violent crime. Illinois received a federal award of $18.8 million under ADAA at the end of fiscal year 2004. More than $12.2 million of these funds were disbursed in FY05. Of the 54 programs supported with these funds, nine were statewide.

A minimum of 65.51 percent of the funds received must be passed through to local units of government and the remainder may be spent by state agencies. ADAA guidelines require that matching funds support at least 25 percent of each funded program's total cost. A federal fiscal year's program funds may be spent over a three-year term in accordance with a detailed strategy prepared every three years. With the exception of multijurisdictional drug and gang units and victim service initiatives, projects are funded for a maximum of 48 months. For a list of programs funded by ADAA in FY05, see page 21.

Justice Assistance Grants Program

The Justice Assistance Grant (JAG) program was designed to streamline justice funding and grant administration. The program blends funding for Edward Byrne Memorial State and Local Law Enforcement Assistance (also known as ADAA) and Local Law Enforcement Block Grant (LLEBG) programs to provide agencies with the flexibility to prioritize and place justice funds where they are needed most.

Byrne grants supported government programs that enable the enforcement of Illinois drug laws and help decrease the likelihood of violent crime. LLEBG program funds provided local governments with funding to underwrite projects that reduce crime and improve public safety. JAG funds can be used for state and local initiatives, technical assistance, training, personnel, equipment, supplies, contractual support, and information systems for criminal justice for any one or more of the following purpose areas:

- Law enforcement.
- Prosecution and court.
- Prevention and education.
- Corrections and community corrections.
- Drug treatment programs.
- Planning, evaluation, and technology improvement.

Illinois' combined federal fiscal year 2004 Byrne Formula and LLEBG awards from the U.S. Department of Justice Bureau of Justice Assistance totaled $19.6 million. Illinois' federal fiscal year 2005 JAG allocation was $14.3 million, an approximate 25 percent reduction in funds. Program planning is under way for designation of the funding.

Juvenile Accountability Block Grants Program

Juvenile Accountability Block Grant (JABG) funding supports local efforts to reduce juvenile delinquency and crime, and hold young people, their families, and the juvenile justice system accountable for improving the quality of life in every community. Purpose areas include developing graduated sanctions and providing funding to train law enforcement and court personnel. Program requirements include establishing and maintaining restorative justice programs, hiring detention personnel, providing risk and needs assessment, and establishing a juvenile records system.

In FY05, the Authority disbursed $2.9 million in JABG funds. These funds were used to support 128 juvenile justice programs throughout Illinois.

A minimum of 75 percent of the funds must be allocated to units of local government. Three-quarters of each unit of local government allocation is based on law enforcement expenditure data, and 25 percent on the average annual number of Uniform Crime Report Part 1 violent crime arrests. JABG guidelines require matching funds of 10 percent.

The Juvenile Accountability Incentive Block Grants (JAIBG) program was enacted in 1998 to promote greater accountability in the juvenile justice system. JAIBG was revised and renamed the Juvenile Accountability Block Grants program in FY04.

See page 24 for a list of programs funded through JABG in FY05.

Local Law Enforcement Block Grants Program

The U.S. Department of Justice Bureau of Justice Assistance makes funds available to units of local government under the Local Law Enforcement Block Grants (LLEBG) program for purposes of reducing crime and improving public safety.

Illinois administered $778,000 in LLEBG funding in FY05. The funds were awarded to 45 jurisdictions. Of those jurisdictions, three served communities with populations of less than 25,000. A minimum of 25 percent of the funds were available for units of local government with populations less than 25,000 and a maximum of 25 percent of the funds were available for those with populations of 25,000 or greater.

For a list of agencies that received LLEBG funding in FY05, see page 31.

National Criminal History Improvement Program

The National Criminal History Improvement Program (NCHIP) was established in 1995 to promote the accuracy, completeness, and timeliness of criminal history records. Funds are used at the state and local levels to improve the quality of criminal history records, or “rap sheets,” which are vital to police, prosecutors, judges, and various government agencies.

In FY05, the Authority distributed $256,728 in federal funds to support NCHIP initiatives in Illinois. Those funds included grants to the municipalities of Harbor, Morton, Sterling, and Winthrop, and to Madison County, for the purchase of automated fingerprint equipment.

National Forensic Sciences Improvement Act

The Paul Coverdell National Forensic Sciences Improvement Act (NFSIA) authorizes funding to improve the quality, timeliness, and credibility of forensic science services for criminal justice purposes. NFSIA funding is directed to crime laboratories and medical examiners’ offices based on population and crime statistics. The program permits funding for facilities, personnel, computerization, equipment, supplies, education, and training.

In FY05, the Authority disbursed $241,364 to Illinois State Police (ISP) for forensic science initiatives. ISP operates nine laboratories that provide forensic services to almost 1,500 law enforcement agencies in Illinois.

Project Safe Neighborhoods

Project Safe Neighborhoods (PSN) is a nationwide program committed to reducing gun crime by enhancing cooperative initiatives between local, state, and federal agencies. Led by regional task forces, the Authority administers PSN awards on behalf of the Office of the U.S. Attorney in both the Northern and Central Districts of Illinois. PSN sets aside substantial portions of each award for programs focused on juveniles.

In the Central District, headquartered in Springfield, PSN provides funds to facilitate local participation in cooperative gun and violent fugitive task forces. In the Northern District, headquartered in Chicago, the PSN strategy focuses on integrated public information, enforcement, prosecution, and parole efforts in the five Chicago police districts with the highest incidence of gun crime.

In FY05, $799,600 was disbursed to 12 anti-gun crime initiatives in Illinois. See page 18 for a list of programs funded through Project Safe Neighborhoods in FY05.

Project Safe Neighborhoods grants

Project Safe Neighborhoods (PSN) is a nationwide commitment to reducing gun crime by networking existing local anti-gun crime programs providing those programs with additional tools necessary to be successful. The Authority distributed PSN grant funds to the following programs between July 1, 2004, and June 30, 2005. Funds distributed during the fiscal year may differ from the total award received for each program.

Residential Substance Abuse Treatment Program

The Residential Substance Abuse Treatment Program (RSAT) provides funding for treatment programs in a correctional setting and is available to the Illinois Department of Corrections (IDOC). RSAT funds are used to implement three types of programs: residential, jail-based, and aftercare. At least 10 percent of the total state allocation, beginning in federal fiscal year 2003, must be made available to local correctional and detention facilities for either residential or jail-based substance abuse treatment programs.

In FY05, more than $1.5 million was distributed to IDOC for treatment programs across the state.

RSAT provides formula grants to correctional agencies to implement treatment programs for prisoners housed in IDOC facilities. RSAT funding requires the following criteria be met for funding eligibility:

- Length of treatment must be six to 12 months.
- Offenders must receive treatment services in a residential setting away from the general inmate population.
- The primary focus of the program must be on the substance abuse problems of the inmate, but the program also must develop inmates' social, cognitive, behavioral, and vocational skills.

In addition, treatment should be limited to offenders who are nearing the end of their incarceration so that they may be released upon completion of the substance abuse program. See page 19 for a list of RSAT programs funded in FY05.

Violence Against Women Act

Congress passed the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) in 1994, and again in 2000. Among the provisions of the act is a section authorizing grants to states for programs that would improve the response of the criminal justice system to female victims of sexual assault and domestic violence.

As the agency charged with administering VAWA awards in Illinois, the Authority relies on statistical data, public testimony, and surveys of criminal justice and victim service agencies to ensure the most effective distribution of funds. The program's objectives include:

- Providing services to women who are victims of sexual assault and domestic violence by establishing satellite programs in one or more counties and extending services to victims who are unserved or underserved.
- Developing, implementing, and evaluating a plan for training police, prosecutors, judges, circuit clerks, probation officers, and service providers that reflects the unique information and skills necessary to promote an interdisciplinary approach to sexual assault and domestic violence.

Residential Substance Abuse Treatment Program

The Authority distributed grant funds to the following Residential Substance Abuse Treatment Programs between July 1, 2004, and June 30, 2005. Funds distributed during the fiscal year may differ from the total award received for each program.

- Implementing measures that document and assess the response of criminal justice agencies in Illinois to sexual assault and domestic violence.
- Providing support for efforts that enable coordinated multidisciplinary responses to adult female victims of sexual assault and domestic violence, including the adoption and institutionalization of protocols based on state or national models.

The Authority received $4.3 million in VAWA grant funding in FY05. VAWA funds were disbursed during the fiscal year to support 48 programs. The act specifies that states must allocate 25 percent of the funds to law enforcement, 25 percent to prosecution, 30 percent to service providers, and 5 percent to the courts. The remaining 15 percent can be allocated at the state's discretion.

Funds have a two-year life span and must be spent in accordance with a plan submitted to the Office on Violence Against Women, U.S. Department of Justice. See page 27 for a list of programs funded through VAWA in FY05.

Multidisciplinary response teams for domestic violence and sexual assault victims

In FY05, VAWA program funds were used to continue enhancing protocols and guidelines for responding to victims of domestic violence or sexual assault.

Kankakee, McLean, Peoria, and St. Clair counties received VAWA funding in FY05 to enhance their multidisciplinary responses to domestic violence and sexual assault cases by coordinating the services of law enforcement officers, prosecutors, service providers, victim advocates, and the judiciary.

Each multidisciplinary response team incorporates training to emphasize the spirit of interagency cooperation, while providing participants with the necessary skills to combat domestic violence and sexual assault. The goal is to heighten sensitivity while improving evidence collection, initial response, victim interviews, and victim referrals.

Transitional housing programs

In FY05, VAWA funds also were used to support 10 transitional housing programs providing services to victims of domestic violence. Many implementing agencies allow victims to stay for up to one year. The agencies collaborate with other service providers in the community to ensure that the victims receive literacy services, job training, employment referrals, public assistance, and housing.

Victims of Crime Act

The Victims of Crime Act (VOCA), funded with fines paid by offenders convicted of violating federal laws, supports direct services to victims of crime. The act requires that priority be given to services for victims of sexual assault, domestic violence, child abuse, and other groups identified by the state as underserved victims of crime.

The Authority received $14.6 million in VOCA grant funding in FY05. The Authority disbursed more than $16.2 million in VOCA grant funding to 147 victim service providers during the fiscal year (funds distributed during the fiscal year often differ from the total award received as grants may be spent over a three-year period). These funds supported victim advocacy programs throughout Illinois, including services provided by agencies that are members of the Coalition Against Domestic Violence and Coalition Against Sexual Assault. Other grants supported services to survivors of homicide victims, victims of drunk driving crashes, and violent crime victims with special needs, such as those with disabilities and the elderly. See page 28 for a list of programs funded through VOCA in FY05.

Rural Domestic Violence and Child Victimization Enforcement Grants

Rural Domestic Violence and Child Victimization Enforcement Grants are designed to enhance services available to rural victims and children by encouraging community involvement in developing a coordinated response to domestic violence, dating violence, and child abuse.

A state is considered rural if it has a population of 52 or fewer persons per square mile or the largest county has less than 150,000 people. Non-rural states such as Illinois may apply on behalf of rural jurisdictions in their states.

In Illinois, the Rural Domestic Violence and Child Victimization Enforcement grant program provides domestic violence victims and their children with safe housing while creating opportunities for them to develop the skills and resources necessary to become financially independent and live free from violence.

The program also was designed to help meet the service needs of victims in 16 rural Illinois counties: Clark, Coles, Cumberland, Douglas, Edgar, Gallatin, Hamilton, Hardin, Johnson, Lee, Moultrie, Pope, Saline, Shelby, White, and Whiteside. Together, these counties cover 7,430 square miles and a combined population of 334,239.

The Authority received $500,000 in Rural Domestic Violence and Child Victimization Enforcement grant funding in FY05. During the fiscal year, $270,269 was disbursed to three programs providing transitional housing and support services to victims of intimate partner violence and their children. They include: Anna Bixby Women's Center, Housing Outreach, Prevention and Education (HOPE), and the YWCA of the Sauk Valley.

Violent Offender Incarceration and Truth-in-Sentencing Grant Program

The Violent Offender Incarceration and Truth-in-Sentencing (VOI-TIS) Grant Program provides funding to states to build or expand correctional and juvenile detention facilities and support community-based correctional options such as halfway houses, day reporting centers, community-based substance abuse centers, and aftercare services. States must comply with specific conditions to qualify for Truth-in-Sentencing grants, including implementing laws requiring those convicted of the most violent offenses to serve 85 percent of the sentence imposed. VOI-TIS allows for 15 percent of the designation to be used for local jails and juvenile detention centers.

The Authority distributed $9.6 million in VOI-TIS funding to six programs during FY05.

Anti-Drug Abuse Act grants

The Anti-Drug Abuse Act, also known as the Edward Byrne Memorial State and Local Law Enforcement Assistance Program, was designed to help states and local units of government carry out strategies to control drug abuse and violent crime. Research and analysis

The Authority is responsible for conducting criminal justice research in Illinois, and its Research & Analysis (R&A) Unit handles the majority of the program and policy research efforts. The unit's primary mission is to identify and explore current or emerging criminal and juvenile justice issues that affect the Illinois justice system. The results are then made available to state, county, and local criminal justice decision-makers to assist them in their policy discussions and planning. R&A attempts to make timely and objective information available on key issues by emphasizing short-term projects that address narrow topics, so that important policy, program, and funding decisions are based on data and factual information rather than general perceptions. A number of research efforts were under way or concluded in state fiscal year 2005.

Projects to support drug, violent crime, and victim programs

The Authority continually collects, analyzes, and disseminates statistical information on the extent and nature of drug and violent crime, and the justice system's response. By working with various agencies responsible for initial data collection, staff have developed what is perhaps the most comprehensive repository of drug- and violent crime-related data in Illinois, as well as a unique and widely recognized expertise in data analysis and interpretation.

R&A encourages and supports community problem assessment and planning by making some of this data available online via CJ DataNet, an interactive database application located on the Authority's website. This application allows visitors to view, graph, and download community crime and arrest data. (See page 33 for more information about CJ DataNet.)

The unit also is responsible for a multifaceted evaluation initiative aimed at assessing the implementation and impact of drug and violent crime control programs in Illinois. Evaluation projects supported with federal funds are carried out in-house and through subcontracts with universities and private research firms.

Full evaluation reports are published on the Authority's website and on CD-ROM. These reports also are summarized in four-page briefs as part of the Program Evaluation Summary series.

R&A provides a variety of program development support to the Authority's Federal & State Grants Unit. Some of these activities are supported with a grant from the U.S. Department of Justice Bureau of Justice Assistance, VOCA, and VAWA. R&A also provides FSGU with research and evaluation support.

Information clearinghouse

The Authority serves as a statewide clearinghouse for statistics and other information about the criminal justice system. In FY05, the agency responded to 1,193 requests from people seeking information, an average of 100 per month. Most requests for information came from other government agencies (34 percent) and the general public (29 percent). Other requests came from private agencies (15 percent), researchers (9 percent), students (6 percent), media representatives (4 percent), prison inmates (2 percent), and legislators (less than 1 percent).

Twenty percent of the requests originated in Chicago. Forty-two percent originated in other parts of the state. All other requests for information were received from outside Illinois. Staff responded to 82 percent of all requests in 48 hours or less.

The Authority distributed 136,767 Authority publications in FY05. Staff received 435 e-mail requests and 177 online orders for these publications during the fiscal year.

Authority website: www.icjia.state.il.us

The Authority's award-winning website is a frequent destination of criminal justice professionals, educators, and members of the public. In addition to providing easy access to the latest criminal justice information, the site opens the door to the Authority's three major areas of operation: research, information systems, and federal and state grants. The number of unique visitors to the Authority's website jumped 10 percent in FY05 to 278,169, with an average of 1,696 users per day.

A wide variety of criminal justice related information is continually posted and archived on the site. Updated frequently, the site also offers access to a host of state and national criminal justice publications, including bulletins from the FBI, U.S. Department of Justice, and National Criminal Justice Reference Service.

The Authority's CJ Dispatch automatically notifies registered users via e-mail twice monthly of the site's newest information. The e-mail contains direct links to new content. By the end of FY05, 1,809 users had subscribed to the dispatch, a 15 percent increase over FY04. Authority publications also are available for download from its website. The number of publications downloaded in FY05 increased 78 percent from FY04 to 310,438.

CJ DataNet

CJ DataNet continues to be a popular feature of the Authority's website. The web-based database application allows site users to research broad issues facing the criminal justice system or simply examine crime trends in a specific Illinois county or regional area. Currently, criminal offense and arrest data from ISP Uniform Crime Reports are available from 1983 through 2004 on each Illinois county. Users can display statistical data in a variety of graphs and tables and are able to download data into a spreadsheet for further analysis. CJ DataNet enhancements and additional online data collection features are under way for FY06.

Online training

New technology was implemented in FY05 allowing staff to provide free, web-based training on a variety of criminal justice topics. The technology is particularly useful in training victim service providers using the Authority's InfoNet database. (See page 38 for more information on InfoNet.)

Sheridan Correctional Center Therapeutic Community program analysis

R&A was involved extensively in the pre-operational planning for the Sheridan Correctional Center's Therapeutic Community program, and has been conducting a process and impact evaluation of the program since the facility reopened in January 2004. The Sheridan Correctional Center is the largest prison in the U.S. dedicated to the provision of substance abuse treatment and vocational programming. Staff have made numerous presentations on the implementation and impact of the program at training symposia, to governmental boards and advisory groups, and at state and national conferences.

Balanced and restorative justice initiatives

The Authority supported several balanced and restorative justice (BARJ) efforts during FY05. The Illinois Juvenile Court Act adopts the BARJ philosophy for juvenile delinquency cases. BARJ is guided by three principles: public safety, accountability, and competency development.

In March 2005, the Authority was the primary sponsor of a conference, "Juvenile Justice in Illinois: Implementing Restorative Practices in Your Community.” Co-sponsored by the Illinois Office of the State’s Attorneys Appellate Prosecutor and with assistance from the Illinois Balanced and Restorative Justice Initiative, the three-day event provided juvenile justice professionals an opportunity to learn more about the programmatic applications of BARJ.

Staff began planning BARJ training for juvenile justice practitioners in Illinois. Two training sessions will be held during FY06 on the following restorative practices: family group conferencing, peacemaking circles, and victim offender mediation.

Staff also drafted a series of profession-specific guides for juvenile justice personnel to assist with the implementation of BARJ. Guides were written for the following professions: law enforcement, prosecutors, defense attorneys, judges, probation, detention, and corrections. The guides offer strategies, programs, and practices that incorporate the principles of BARJ. The guides are slated for publication in FY06.

Prisoner re-entry research

The Authority continued to research and evaluate offender re-entry efforts throughout the state in FY05.

Reintegration of gang offenders in the community

In collaboration with DePaul University’s Department of Sociology, IDOC, and the Attorney General’s Gang Crime Prevention Center, this small-scale, pilot study of the reintegration process concluded with a final report in August 2005. The study was largely qualitative and examined how gang and non-gang offenders reintegrate into their Chicago communities. The report focused on how close-knit networks of family and friends influence reintegration over the short and long term.

Returning Home

Under the Returning Home research study, the Urban Institute presented the first systematic understanding of the prisoner re-entry process and the specific issues and challenges associated with re-entry in Chicago. Four policy briefs were published synthesizing findings from four waves of prisoner, family member and stakeholder interviews, and focus groups with residents. Supported in part by the Authority, the briefs include research on health, employment, residential mobility, and treatment, and are available on the Authority’s website.

Illinois Going Home Program

The University of Chicago is conducting an implementation and preliminary impact evaluation of the Illinois Going Home Program. The program is a major offender re-entry effort funded through a partnership of contributing federal agencies and in concert with a number of Chicago-area government, community, and faith-based organizations. This program is overseen by IDOC and provides intensive services and support for offenders released into Chicago’s North Lawndale community. The evaluation will determine whether the program was implemented as designed, as well as the overall effectiveness of the program. The one-year interim report identified a number of recommendations for increasing enrollment. A final report is due in April 2006.

Evaluation of evidence-based practices

In FY05, the Authority entered into a three-year cooperative agreement with the National Institute of Corrections to evaluate Illinois’ Evidence-Based Practices Initiative. This project will assist local probation departments participating in the initiative with the provision of data and analysis that gauges performance before and during the implementation of evidence-based practices, and will establish a process and protocol for ongoing assessment of probation performance through an effective state and local partnership.

Intimate partner violence research

The Chicago Women’s Health Risk Study (CWHRS) project is a collaboration of Chicago medical, public health, and criminal justice agencies, and domestic violence experts to identify factors that indicate a significant danger of life-threatening injury or death in situations of intimate partner violence. By comparing data on abused women with similar data on people who have been killed by an intimate partner, the project helps agencies identify and respond to potentially life-threatening intimate violence situations.

CWHRS was supported with grants from the National Institute of Justice, the Authority, and other agencies. The risk factors identified by the study have been distributed to service and health care providers and law enforcement officers. CWHRS continues to provide vital information to police, clinical staff, and other decision-makers in the field, identifying early warning signs to help practitioners intervene more effectively on behalf of women experiencing intimate partner violence.

CWHRs results are published in a variety of formats, aimed at practitioners and others who can make a difference in women's lives. Topics covered in the study include the effects of collective efficacy and community capacity on whether abused women continued to experience violence; analysis of the relationship between forced sex and leaving the relationship; the development of specific risk factors for African-American women and Latinas; analysis of post traumatic stress disorder in abused women; choking/strangulation as a risk factor for death; intimate partner homicide of elderly women; intimate partner homicide accompanied by the offender's suicide, and analysis of risk factors for abused women becoming a homicide offender.

Homicide research

The Authority's continuing research on lethal violence serves as a foundation for developing effective intervention strategies. The cornerstone of this effort is the Chicago Homicide Dataset, one of the largest and most detailed ever collected in the U.S. In collaboration with the Chicago Police Department, the dataset contains information on every homicide reported in Chicago between 1965 and 2000. The dataset includes more than 27,000 homicides, with more than 200 variables for each case. The data, with individual identifiers removed, are archived in the National Archives of Criminal Justice Data, and are extensively used by policy planners and analysts from Illinois and other states.

Authority staff are partnering with several external researchers on specialized studies of these data, including arson and other fire-related homicide; the effect of partner age disparity on the risk of intimate partner homicide; patterns and trends in homicides of infants and young children; patterns and trends in homicides of the elderly, and homicide offenders under the age of 15.

Criminal history records research

The Authority established the Criminal History Records Audit Center in 1993 to improve the state's criminal history record information system (CHRI) and ensure compliance with federal mandates for criminal history records. Records are used by criminal justice agencies throughout Illinois to identify and prosecute repeat offenders, as well as for research, employment, and professional licensing purposes. Record quality is examined through periodic audits of the computerized criminal history database maintained by ISP.

Many state criminal justice agencies use livescan or other computer-based technology to report criminal justice information. These devices allow criminal justice agencies to more efficiently collect, store, and share information. During the FY05 audit, staff began analysis of information and data to determine timeliness, completeness, and accuracy of electronic CHRI reporting. Twenty-six Illinois county sheriff's departments and state's attorney's offices participated in the audit. Data collected allowed researchers to identify and document agency reporting processes and policies. The information was added to a comparison of original arrest data from the counties to data stored on the computerized criminal history database. The final analysis will help determine compliance with state and federal reporting requirements while documenting any improvements attributed to electronic reporting.

Audit staff also facilitated a workgroup of Illinois criminal justice professionals focused on developing a CHRI Improvement Plan. The plan documents the reporting structure and processes in Illinois. This allowed workgroup members to identify reporting procedure and policy needs. The final plan was submitted to U.S. Department of Justice Office of Justice Programs for use in administering the Byrne Memorial Formula Grant Program and National Criminal History Improvement Program.

In collaboration with ISP, R&A staff also helped facilitate research utilizing criminal history records on behalf of several third-party researchers. The collaborative efforts range from acting as a liaison for data collection to providing technical assistance on the interpretation of CHRI data obtained.

Audit staff also supports the activities of the IJIS Implementation Board by providing technical assistance to committee and subcommittee members.

Information systems

The Authority's Information Systems Unit (ISU) is charged with designing, developing, and operating advanced technology that can be used to help Illinois public safety agencies collect and share information. Affordable information systems have been created by ISU to strengthen communication between agencies and help these agencies coordinate their efforts to reduce crime. Without the Authority's support, many smaller agencies could not afford the information systems on which they now rely.

During FY05, ISU provided technical support to agencies throughout Illinois that use information systems developed by the Authority, including the Police Information Management System (PIMS), PIMSNet, Area-wide Law Enforcement Radio Terminal System (ALERTS), ALERTSNet, and Automated Law Enforcement Communications System (ALECS). More than 280 Illinois police agencies participate in and are served by these systems.

Mobile data systems

ALERTS is an in-car computer terminal system for police. The system provides instant access to information in situations where each second counts. During traffic stops, officers can get information about a car and its owner in a matter of seconds on their ALERTS terminals. Getting the same information from a police dispatcher over a two-way radio can take several minutes. In addition to promoting officer safety, ALERTS has proven effective at helping police recover stolen vehicles and arrest individuals wanted for crimes in Illinois and throughout the country.

Implemented for 20 agencies in 1989, ALERTS is the Authority's largest information systems project. A cooperative effort of local law enforcement agencies and the Authority, ALERTS also is one of the largest wireless public safety networks in the U.S.

The Authority develops, operates, and maintains the central computer hardware and telecommunications equipment for ALERTS, which served 238 agencies in FY05. Agencies obtain their own in-car terminals and pay the Authority a fee for system operation and maintenance. This arrangement allows individual agencies to keep their costs down while gaining access to a reliable, cost-effective system.

The Authority researched new wireless local area network technologies that will provide ALERTS users with wireless transmission of field-based reports, network file transfers, e-mail, and images. The Authority replaced outdated hardware and software used to run ALERTS, and changed the name to ALERTSNet to distinguish between the two systems. ALERTSNet provides the same features while allowing additional enhancements and transactions. See page 39 for a list of agencies that used ALERTS and ALERTSNet in FY05.

Police records management systems

The first Police Information Management System (PIMS) module was installed in 1981 at the Joliet Police Department by the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission's Office of Criminal Justice Information Systems. The system continues to be the only records management system of its kind in Illinois, providing shared information to 43 law enforcement agencies. PIMSNet, an updated version of PIMS released in 2003, allows incident and case management and includes additional basic records modules such as animal control, animal licensing, booking and holding, citations, field interviews, and warrants.

Communication support systems

The Automated Law Enforcement Communications System (ALECS) provides a gateway system to participating law enforcement agencies that allows a connection to the Law Enforcement Agencies Data System (LEADS) and the Authority's ALERTS and ALERTSNet network. In addition, ALECS provides 911 and unit status displays, and other software for police communication centers that do not have computer-aided dispatch systems.

InfoNet data collection

InfoNet is a state-of-the-art data system, nationally recognized for deploying the latest technologies to enhance data collection and reporting efforts for victim service providers while creating a unique set of victim service data. The Authority partnered with Illinois' Coalitions Against Sexual Assault and Domestic Violence to develop and implement the system for sexual assault and domestic violence centers in 2001. In 2004, the Authority collaborated with the Illinois Department of Human Services (IDHS) to make the system available to IDHS-funded domestic violence programs. In that same year, InfoNet was also made available to child advocacy centers across Illinois.

InfoNet is comprised of a central database that can be accessed with a web browser. Data are transmitted between users and the database via a private network that securely transfers information over the Internet. Service providers use InfoNet to collect case-level information about the clients they serve. All recorded victim data, including demographic characteristics, are kept confidential using a unique numerical identifier for each victim. A description of the person's victimization is captured, as well as the offender's profile and interactions with the criminal justice system. Agencies also enter services provided by staff, including client services, hotline contacts, and outreach efforts.

To facilitate data mining and analysis, InfoNet has a comprehensive set of reporting tools. Programs utilize report filters to analyze client populations, measure program effectiveness, and manage staff and client caseloads. InfoNet data are also shared with criminal justice agencies to advocate for improved responses to victims. In addition, state agencies responsible for coordinating crime victim services access timely and accurate information for policy and planning initiatives.

During FY05, 102 domestic violence programs, 63 sexual assault programs, and 10 child advocacy centers throughout Illinois used InfoNet.

Enhanced grants management system efforts

ISU and FSGU collaborated to plan implementation of a new in-house grant management information system in FY05. The Authority's grant administration needs have outgrown the agency's current system, which was first implemented in 1990.

The Pennsylvania Commission on Crime & Delinquency originally created the web-based system, called Egrants, with $4.5 million in federal funding to meet the needs of the state of Pennsylvania. The Authority will receive that product and source code at no charge. Staff will then tailor the system to fit Illinois' fund planning and grant administration needs. The new grant system will eliminate redundancies in the current system and allow users outside the agency to submit grant concepts, applications, reports, and other grant-related information online. The system also will allow for a paperless workflow, enforce business rules, and generate more accurate grant reports, while helping monitors track grant loads and status, and alerting them of upcoming grant-related events.
