

Illinois
Criminal Justice
Information Authority

1996

Annual Report

To the Governor and the Honorable Members of the General Assembly:

On behalf of the members and staff of the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Authority, we are pleased to provide you with our fiscal year 1996 annual report. This report provides an overview of the diverse nature of the work performed by the Authority, grants we have provided to units of local and state government, and specific steps we have taken to improve criminal justice in Illinois.

In the area of research, Authority staff provided valuable support to the Legislative Committee on Juvenile Justice and the Governor's Commission on Gangs. Authority-sponsored program evaluations ranged across the criminal justice spectrum, from community policing in Chicago, to the drug court in Madison County.

The Authority also embarked on a unique project to explore the potential of the Internet for enhancing the work of criminal justice agencies. In conjunction with the University of Illinois at Chicago, the Authority worked with the Elmhurst Police Department and the Illinois Attorney General's Office to develop model Internet applications for the criminal justice community.

Our efforts in the area of information systems continued to receive enthusiastic responses from criminal justice agencies. Information systems developed and supported by the Authority now serve some 300 agencies in Illinois. The client base of local law enforcement agencies for these systems has been growing by almost 15 percent a year.

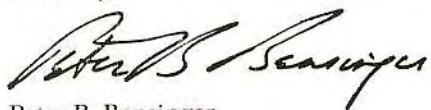

Public hearings in support of federal grant programs administered by the Authority provided an important forum for representatives of the criminal justice and victim advocacy communities. These programs, particularly those funded under the Victims of Crime Act (VOCA), the Anti-Drug Abuse Act (ADAA) and the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA), have provided significantly increased resources, awareness, and treatment services for victims, throughout Illinois.

Our VOCA programs, including 92 funded through the Illinois Coalition Against Domestic Violence and 41 funded through the Illinois Coalition Against Sexual Assault, reached a record number of victims in Illinois in fiscal year 1996, serving more than 86,000 people.

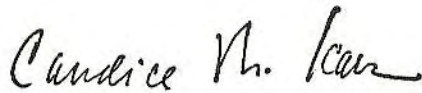

ADAA funds in Illinois supported Metropolitan Enforcement Groups and special drug task forces. These units, in collaboration with special drug prosecutors, conducted investigations into drug trafficking in 80 Illinois counties.

Finally, we would like to thank former Executive Director Thomas F. Baker for his dedicated leadership and service to the Authority during his 2 1/2-year tenure. Director Baker left the Authority to become an associate judge in McHenry County in December 1996. We thank him for his leadership and commitment to the work of the Authority.

Sincerely,

Peter B. Bensinger

Mission Statement

Created in 1983, the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Authority is a state agency dedicated to improving the administration of criminal justice. The Authority works to enhance the information tools and management resources of state and local criminal justice agencies, and serves as a statewide forum for criminal justice coordination, planning, and problem solving.

The Authority's specific powers and duties are spelled out in the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Act [20 ILCS 3930/1]. In general, these responsibilities fall into four areas:

1. In the area of information systems, technology, and data quality, the Authority:
 - Develops, operates, and maintains computerized information systems for police and correctional agencies.
 - Audits criminal history record information in the state central repositories for data accuracy and completeness.
 - Serves as the sole administrative appeal body for determining citizen challenges to the accuracy of their criminal history records.
 - Monitors the operation of existing criminal justice information systems to protect the constitutional rights and privacy of citizens.
2. In the area of research and analysis, the Authority:
 - Publishes research studies that analyze a variety of crime trends and criminal justice issues.
 - Acts as a clearinghouse for information and research on crime and the criminal justice system.
 - Develops and tests statistical methodologies and provides statistical advice and interpretation to support criminal justice decision making.
3. In the area of policy and planning, the Authority:
 - Develops and implements comprehensive strategies for drug law enforcement, crime control, and assistance to crime victims, using federal funds awarded to Illinois.
 - Advises the governor and the General Assembly on criminal justice policies and legislation.
 - Develops, evaluates, and correlates state and local programs for improving law enforcement and the administration of criminal justice.
4. In the area of grants administration, the Authority:
 - Implements and funds victim assistance and drug law enforcement programs under the federal Anti-Drug Abuse Act, Victims of Crime Act, Violence Against Women Act, and other grant programs as they become available.
 - Monitors program activity and provides technical assistance to grantees.
 - Convenes policy-making groups to learn about ongoing concerns of criminal justice officials.
 - Provides staff support to the Illinois Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Council, an 11-member board working to curb motor vehicle theft in the state.

Composition

The Illinois Criminal Justice Information Authority is a 15-member board of state and local leaders from the criminal justice system, plus experts from the private sector. The Authority is supported by a full-time professional staff working out of the agency's office in Chicago.

The Authority's board is led by a chairman, who is appointed by the governor from among the agency's members. By law, the Authority meets at least four times a year in public meetings.

Authority members are responsible for setting agency priorities, tracking the progress of ongoing programs, and monitoring the agency's budget.

The Authority's board includes:

- 2 police chiefs (Chicago and another municipality)
- 2 sheriffs (Cook and another county)

- 2 state's attorneys (Cook and another county)
- Illinois Attorney General (or designee)
- Director, Illinois State Police
- Director, Illinois Department of Corrections
- Director, Office of the State's Attorneys Appellate Prosecutor
- Five members of the public

While Authority members set priorities for the agency and monitor their progress, the day-to-day work is carried out by the Authority's staff, who are organized into seven offices representing the different functions of the agency. The staff organization and functions are described on page 8.

Committees

The Authority has both ad hoc and standing committees. The chairman appoints all committee chairmen and vice chairmen. Non-Authority members may be appointed to ad hoc committees as long as these committees include at least one Authority member. Five standing committees help direct and review much of the agency's work. Except for the Appeals Committee, standing committees consist of at least seven members of the Authority.

Budget Committee

The Budget Committee reviews the Authority budget and oversees the Criminal Justice Information Systems Trust Fund. It receives fiscal reports about the funds made available to further the purposes of the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Act and oversees the grant award procedures of the Authority. In addition, members may present testimony and advocate for the Authority's budget request before the governor and General Assembly.

Operations & Audits Committee

This committee reviews and monitors the operation of comprehensive information systems that are being designed or have been developed and are operated by the Authority. It also oversees the annual and periodic audits of the state central repositories as provided in the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Act.

Appeals Committee

The Appeals Committee decides administrative appeals by citizens who have challenged the accuracy and completeness of their state criminal history record information.

Research & Policy Committee

The Research & Policy Committee reviews the research projects, proposals, and programs of the Authority's Research & Analysis Unit, and evaluates and correlates state and local programs as provided in the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Act. It also helps determine research and evaluation priorities in meeting the needs of decision-makers.

Legislation & Regulations Committee

This committee reviews legislation and regulations proposed by Authority staff and other agencies which impact criminal justice; it also provides testimony and makes recommendations to the governor and General Assembly, as provided in the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Act. It studies and recommends regulations to ensure the privacy and security of criminal history record information as required by the Act.

Ad Hoc Committee on Violence Against Women

The Authority is responsible for administering grants awarded to Illinois under the federal Violence Against Women Act. To assist with the development of an implementation plan and strategies for the use of these funds, a 15-member Ad Hoc Committee on Violence Against Women was created. This committee includes representatives from law enforcement, prosecution, the courts, victim advocacy groups and service providers.

Ad Hoc Committee on Dispositional Reporting

This committee assesses the problems with missing dispositions on computerized criminal histories (CCH) and identifies the organizational, technological, personnel, and policy problems and issues that impede disposition reporting and posting. It also identifies and recommends timely and effective solutions to these problems.

Highlights of Fiscal Year 1996

☆ Internet project

Together with the Office of International Criminal Justice at the University of Illinois at Chicago, the Authority in the spring of 1996 began working with the Elmhurst Police Department and the Illinois Attorney General's Office to develop model Internet applications for the criminal justice community. The project involved setting up model Web sites and a survey of criminal justice agencies in Illinois on Internet access and use.

As part of the Internet project, staff of the Authority's Research & Analysis Unit and the University of Illinois began work on an on-line handbook to help state and local agencies establish and maintain a viable presence on the Internet. The handbook was to be completed and published in 1997.

Issues being explored through the Internet project included electronic publication, access to statistical information and datasets, and immediate public access to time-sensitive information. The project was supported with a grant from the Bureau of Justice Assistance, U.S. Department of Justice.

☆ McGruff the Crime Dog

McGruff the Crime Dog returned to Illinois in fiscal year 1996 to help "Take a bite out of crime." After a lengthy absence, McGruff appeared in several brochures providing tips on safety and how to prevent crime. The Authority's Office of Public Information also began work on a McGruff video to be completed and made available to broadcasters in 1997 as a public service announcement.

☆ Information systems

The number of law enforcement and public safety agencies served by information systems developed and supported by the Authority increased to approximately 300 agencies in fiscal year 1996. The Authority's client base continues to grow at almost 15 percent a year and now includes almost one-third of the law enforcement agencies in the state.

☆ Juvenile justice

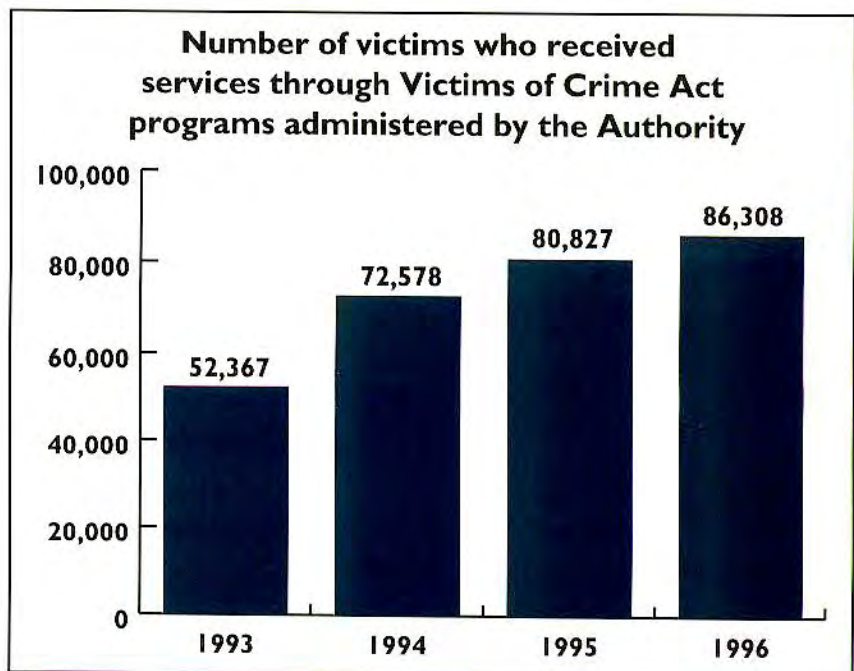

The Authority provided extensive staff support and research for the Legislative Committee on Juvenile Justice. The committee issued its report, which analyzed juvenile justice issues and made recommendations for improving the system, in May 1996.

☆ Motor vehicle thefts

According to the Illinois State Police, the number of motor vehicle thefts reported for calendar year 1996 was down 6 percent from the previous year, to 58,743. This represents an overall decline of 22 percent in the number of motor vehicle thefts since the Illinois Motor Vehicle Council was created and made a part of the Authority in 1991.

☆ Federal grants

The number of victims in Illinois who received assistance through programs funded under the federal Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) increased 64 percent between 1993 and 1996. In state fiscal year 1996, 86,308 victims received assistance through VOCA programs administered by the Authority.

Federal and State Grants

The Federal & State Grants Unit (FSGU) administers grant programs overseen by the Authority. Authorized under the Authority's power "to apply for, receive, establish priorities for, allocate, disburse and spend grant funds," this responsibility includes assuring compliance with federal and state regulations. Twenty-three staff members administer seven federal programs, one state grant program, and one in-house grant, which funds a crime prevention program featuring McGruff the Crime Dog.

FSGU staff perform a variety of functions in connection with developing, implementing, and monitoring state and local programs while ensuring compliance with numerous federal and state laws and guidelines. These tasks include planning, program development, monitoring, technical assistance, coordination, and administration.

Anti-Drug Abuse Act

The federal Anti-Drug Abuse Act (ADAA) of 1988, also known as the Edward Byrne Memorial State and Local Law Enforcement Assistance Program, supports government programs that enable the enforcement of Illinois drug laws and help decrease the likelihood of violent crime. Illinois received a federal award of $19.4 million under ADAA in 1996.

McGruff the Crime Dog returned to Illinois to fight crime under an Authority grant. The crime dog and his nephew Scruff appeared in brochures and other publications.

A minimum of 64.51 percent of the funds received must be passed through to local units of government and the remainder may be spent by state agencies. Anti-drug funds require $1 in match for every $3 received from the federal government. These funds may be spent over a three-year term in accordance with a detailed strategy prepared annually.

Victims of Crime Act

The Victims of Crime Act (VOCA), funded by fines paid by those convicted of violating federal laws, supports direct services to victims of violent crime. The act requires that priority be given to services for victims of sexual assault, domestic violence, child abuse, and other groups identified by the state as underserved victims of violent crimes. Funds may only be used to support direct services to victims of violent crime. Since 1995, states have been allowed to retain up to 5 percent of VOCA funds for administrative purposes.

Illinois' 1996 federal award of $3.26 million was allocated toward services provided by 150 community programs through 22 agreements. Two agreements were with the Illinois Coalition Against Domestic Violence in support of 92 community programs. Two other agreements were with the Illinois Coalition Against Sexual Assault and supported 41 community programs. Other grants supported services to survivors of homicide victims, victims of drunk driving crashes, and victims of violent crime with special needs, such as the disabled or elderly.

Violence Against Women Act

Congress passed the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) in 1994. Among the provisions of the act is a section authorizing grants to states for programs that would improve the response of the criminal justice system to victims of sexual assault and domestic violence. The act specifies that states must allocate a minimum of 25 percent of the funds they receive in each of three categories: law enforcement, prosecution, and victim services. The remaining funds may be spent in one or more of these areas or for other purposes. Awards to units of government require a match of $1 for every $3 from the federal government. Funds have a two-year life and must be spent in accordance with a plan submitted to the Violence Against Women Grants Office, U.S. Department of Justice.

As the agency charged with administering VAWA awards in Illinois, the Authority was responsible for developing a plan for distributing the federal money. Relying on statistical data, public testimony and surveys of criminal justice and victim service agencies, the Authority established the S.T.O.P. Violence Against Women in Illinois Program. Among the objectives for the program are:

- ◆ Expansion of services to women who are victims of sexual assault or domestic violence;
- ◆ Improved training for law enforcement officers and the establishment of protocols for handling sexual assault and domestic violence reports;
- ◆ Improved training for prosecutors and the establishment of protocols for handling sexual assault and domestic violence cases; and
- ◆ Promotion of multidisciplinary training programs for criminal justice agencies and health care systems.

The National Criminal History Improvement Program

The National Criminal History Improvement Program (NCHIP) was established in 1995 to promote the accuracy, completeness, and timeliness of criminal history records. Funds are used at the state and local levels to improve the quality of criminal history records, or "rap sheets," which police, prosecutors, judges, and an increasing number of noncriminal justice agencies use.

Illinois received $2.8 million in fiscal year 1995 and $1.1 million in fiscal year 1996. Approximately 83 percent of this money has been awarded to the Illinois State Police for improvements to the state's criminal history program. At the local level, funds are primarily used for the electronic capture and transfer of fingerprints and associated information about alleged offenders.

The Criminal History Records Audit Center

The Authority established the Criminal History Records Audit Center within FSGU in 1993 to improve the state's criminal history record information system. The Audit Center is funded under the federal Edward Byrne Memorial State and Local Law Enforcement Assistance Program.

In August 1995, the Audit Center released A Comprehensive Examination of the Illinois Criminal History Records Information (CHRI) System: Final Report of the 1993-94 Criminal History Records Audit. The report looked at the timeliness, accuracy, and completeness of the Computerized Criminal History database and local agency procedures for reporting criminal history information to the Illinois State Police. Among the major findings:

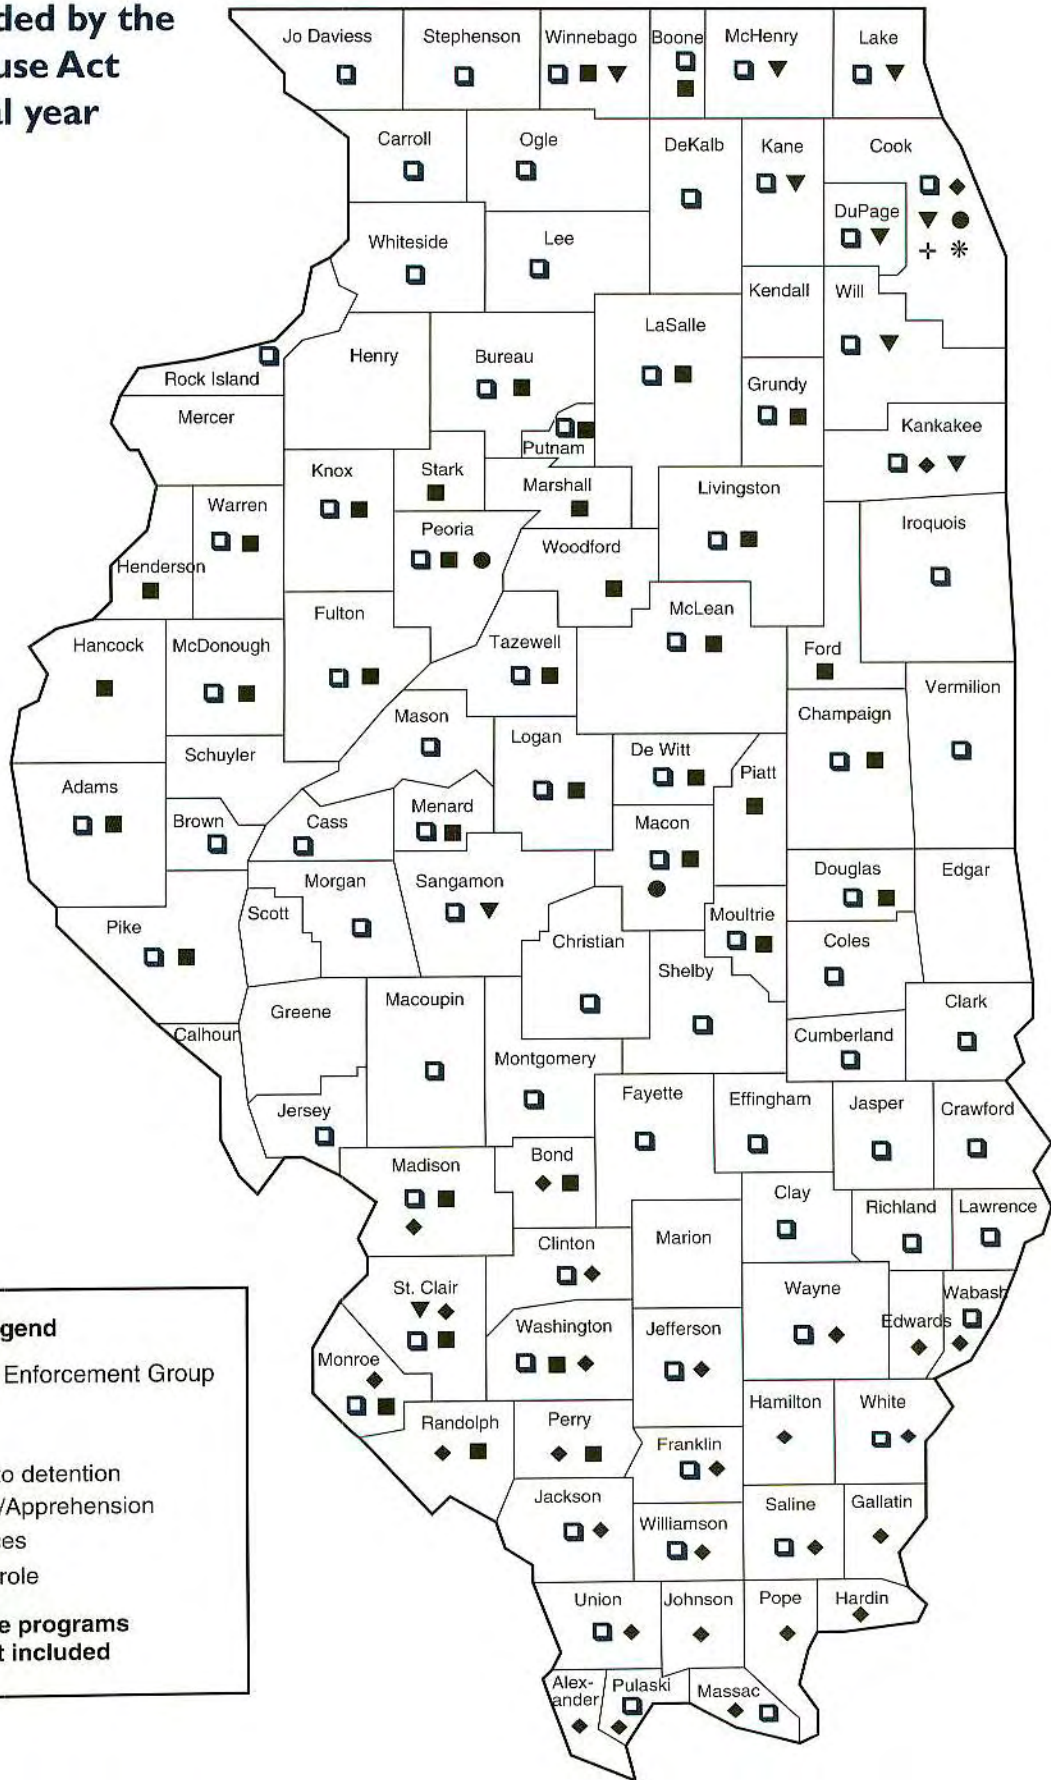

- ✓ Most arrests are missing case outcomes, such as guilty or not guilty.
- ✓ Local agencies usually do not submit arrest, charge, disposition, and corrections information in a timely manner as prescribed by Illinois statutes.
- ✓ Even when rap sheets accurately reflect the incarceration, they often lack arrest and disposition events leading up to it.

The Audit Center also began work on The 1996 Criminal History Records Audit, an examination of the timeliness of information submitted to the Illinois State Police, as well as a report on the effects of using notices to appear and summonses on criminal history reporting.

The Chicago Police Department's Violence Reduction in Urban Areas program, funded by an ADAA grant, focused on reducing gang violence. The effort included getting rid of gang graffiti in the Little Village neighborhood.

Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Council

The General Assembly established the Illinois Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Council in 1991 to combat vehicle theft, insurance fraud, and related crimes. The 11-member council is made up of law enforcement and insurance industry officials. Terrance Gainer, director of the Illinois State Police, serves as Council chairman. Day-to-day work of the council is carried out by members of the Authority's Federal & State Grants Unit and Office of Personnel & Budget.

22 percent decline in vehicle thefts

Since the creation of the Council, reports of motor vehicle theft in Illinois have fallen by 22 percent. The 58,743 vehicles reported stolen in calendar year 1996 represented a 6 percent decline from the previous year.

Council highlights since 1991

Investigations initiated.....	6,690
Audits of vehicle businesses conducted.....	12,656
Arrests made.....	3,810
Convictions obtained.....	822
Vehicles recovered.....	8,255
Dollar value of recoveries.....	$54.2 million

The Council funded 21 programs in fiscal year 1996, including multi-jurisdictional task forces and special prosecution units, statewide audits of salvage yards, and statewide public awareness programs.

The Illinois Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Act requires that insurance companies pay into a special trust fund an amount equal to $1 for each private passenger automobile insured for comprehensive coverage. This amount, collected and administered by the Council, totals approximately $5.4 million each year. Funds are primarily designated for law enforcement programs focusing on the investigation and prosecution of vehicle theft crimes.

The Council's responsibilities, as listed in the Illinois Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Act of 1991, include: assessing the scope of the problem of motor vehicle theft, particularly in those areas of the state with the highest incident rates; allocating funds made available for the purpose of the Act; and developing and implementing strategies to combat motor vehicle theft.

Research and Analysis

The Authority is the state agency responsible for conducting criminal justice research in Illinois, and its Research & Analysis Unit is responsible for the majority of the program and policy research conducted. The unit's primary mission is to identify and explore current or emerging criminal and juvenile justice issues that impact the effectiveness of Illinois' criminal justice system. The research and analysis conducted is then made available to state, county, and local governmental criminal justice decision-makers to assist them in their policy discussions. The R&A unit, through objective, timely research, attempts to make information available on key issues so that policy, program, and funding decisions are based on data and factual information.

The R&A unit is staffed by professional researchers and statisticians who conduct research of interest and use to the governor, General Assembly, and the Illinois' criminal justice community.

In addition to the Internet project and the work for the Legislative Committee on Juvenile Justice mentioned in the Highlights section of this report, the R&A unit was involved in a variety of other projects.

Trends and Issues 1997

In the summer of 1996 the R&A staff began work collecting data for a comprehensive overview of crime trends and criminal justice issues in Illinois. Trends and Issues 1997, will be a valuable resource for policy-makers, practitioners of criminal justice in Illinois, and others. This will be the fifth Trends and Issues produced by the Authority, but the first since 1991.

Juvenile Justice Commission

During fiscal year 1996 the unit continued to assist the Illinois Juvenile Justice Commission in its planning process. R&A staff conducted detailed analyses of the processing of juveniles through the juvenile justice system in 24 of Illinois' 102 counties. Much of the work done for the commission also was included in the May 1996 report of the Legislative Committee on Juvenile Justice.

Information clearinghouse

The Authority serves as a statewide clearinghouse for statistics and other information about the criminal justice system. During fiscal year 1996, R&A staff responded to approximately 130 calls per month from people seeking information. Most of the requests for information were from other government entities (36 percent). The remainder of the requests were broken down as follows: researchers/students, 17 percent; general public, 16 percent; private business, 14 percent; media, 12 percent; legislature, 3 percent; and other, 2 percent.

Homicide research

The Authority's research on lethal violence serves as a foundation for developing effective intervention strategies. The cornerstone of this effort is the Chicago Homicide Dataset, one of the largest and most detailed ever collected in the United States. It contains information on every homicide reported in Chicago between 1965 and 1995. The dataset includes 20,000 homicides and more than 200 variables for each murder. Additional details on homicides committed

Awards and accolades

Candice M. Kane, associate director over the Federal & State Grants Unit, was awarded a certificate of appreciation from the U.S. Department of Justice for outstanding service on behalf of crime victims. The Justice Department thanked Kane for her years of service supporting victims of crime programs throughout Illinois and the nation.

Roger Przybylski, associate director over the Research & Analysis Unit, was elected for the second consecutive year as president of the Justice Research and Statistics Association, a national professional association of criminal justice analysts, researchers, and practitioners. The mission of JRSA is to promote the development, analysis, and dissemination of objective and accurate information to support sound policy development.

David Olson, senior research analyst in the Research & Analysis Unit, was awarded the Assistant U.S. Attorney General's Graduate Research Fellowship. The fellowship is awarded to doctoral students to assist in the development of dissertation research. Olson received his doctorate in the fall of 1996 from the University of Illinois at Chicago.

from 1991 through 1995 were added and a report reviewing patterns and trends in Chicago homicides over 25 years was released.

Computerized crime analysis

Computerized mapping tools to replace old-fashioned pin maps have come a long way since their advent in the late 1980s, and innovations by staff at the Authority have played a large role in their expanded usefulness to crime analysts.

The Authority developed the Spatial and Temporal Analysis of Crime (STAC) software package and GeoArchive (geographic database) of law enforcement and community data as part of this effort. STAC is a statistical toolbox for analyzing and interpreting mapped data and is available from the Authority at no cost to law enforcement agencies.

The mapping and research support provided by STAC and the GeoArchive are used to identify crisis areas and develop plans for intervention. STAC currently is used in more than 100 police departments worldwide.

Research and evaluations to support drug, violent crime, and victim programs

R&A continually collects, analyzes, and disseminates statistical information on the extent and nature of drug and violent crime and the justice system's response. By working with various agencies responsible for initial data collection, staff have developed what is perhaps the most comprehensive repository of drug- and violent crime-related data in Illinois, as well as a unique and widely recognized expertise in data analysis and interpretation.

The unit also is responsible for a multifaceted evaluation initiative aimed at assessing the implementation and impact of drug and violent crime control programs in Illinois. Multiple evaluation projects supported with federal funds are carried out in-house and through subcontracts with private research firms and universities.

In all, 17 evaluations were either underway or concluded during fiscal year 1996 (see box).

In response to a number of issues being considered by the Illinois General Assembly, the Authority sponsored an analysis of the criminal histories of Class 4 felony offenders incarcerated in the Illinois Department of Corrections. The research documented the fact that most of those offenders incarcerated in Illinois' prison system for relatively minor offenses, such as possession of a controlled substance, had extensive criminal histories, including arrests, convictions, and prior incarceration.

Information Systems

The Authority's Information Systems Unit (ISU) is charged with designing, developing, and operating advanced technology that can be used to help Illinois public safety agencies collect and share information. Affordable information systems have been created by ISU to strengthen communication between agencies and help these agencies coordinate their efforts to reduce crime. Without the Authority's support, smaller agencies could not afford the information systems on which they now rely.

ISU provides technical support to agencies through the Illinois Crime Information System (ICIS), as well as the Correctional Institution Management Information System (CIMIS). ICIS components include the Police Information Management System (PIMS); the Area-wide Law Enforcement Radio Terminal System (ALERTS); and the Automated Law Enforcement Communications System (ALECS). The client base for the ICIS systems has grown by almost 15 percent a year, to approximately 300 agencies.

Mobile data systems

ALERTS is an in-car computer terminal system for police. Regardless of the agency's size and location, ALERTS provides instant access to information in situations where each second counts. During traffic stops, officers can get information about a car and its owner in a matter of seconds on their ALERTS terminals. Getting the same information from a police dispatcher over a two-way radio can take several minutes – and place the officer in danger. In addition to promoting officer safety, ALERTS has proven effective at helping police recover stolen vehicles and arrest suspects wanted for crimes in Illinois and throughout the country.

ALERTS is the Authority's largest and fastest growing information systems project. A cooperative effort of local law enforcement and the Authority, ALERTS is also the largest wireless public safety network in the United States. While most other mobile data systems are developed and operated for single agencies, ALERTS was designed for a large network of users.

The Authority researches, develops, operates, and maintains ALERTS central computer hardware and telecommunications equipment. Agencies obtain their own in-car terminals and pay the Authority a user fee for system operation and maintenance. This arrangement allows individual agencies to keep their costs down while gaining access to a dynamic, state-of-the-art system.

Communication support systems

The Authority's Police Information Management System (PIMS) continues to be the only system of its kind in Illinois – not just in the functions it provides but also in the sharing of information it promotes among law enforcement agencies.

By the end of fiscal year 1996, there were 52 police agencies using PIMS to maintain information about criminal incidents, offenders, arrests, and other police operations. The system also has sophisticated crime analysis and mapping features, and automatically prepares monthly Uniform Crime Reports statistics.

The Automated Law Enforcement Communications System (ALECS) provides software to participating law enforcement agencies that allows a link to both the national Law Enforcement Agencies Data System (LEADS) and the Authority's ALERTS network. It also provides a 9-1-1 display, a unit status display, and other software for police communication centers that do not have Computer-Aided Dispatch (CAD) systems.

Corrections information needs

The Correctional Institution Management Information System (CIMIS) provides sheriffs' departments with a fast and efficient system for processing people who have been arrested. CIMIS also is a valuable tool for retrieving information needed to keep up with growing demands on correctional facilities and growing inmate populations.

There currently are eight county jails that are CIMIS clients, including the Cook County Jail. These eight counties account for more than 70 percent of admissions to the Illinois Department of Corrections.

Livescan interface

Expansion of CIMIS' livescan (electronic fingerprinting) interface installations continued during 1996. The expansion to new sites should continue through the next two years. With federal assistance, all CIMIS clients should be able to participate in this enhancement.

Additional application modifications were made to improve the timeliness and quality of data posted to the Illinois State Police's computerized criminal history system. Through the livescan interface, CIMIS staff began electronically updating the Illinois State Police's computerized criminal history system.

The livescan interface demonstrates CIMIS' commitment to improving criminal history data in Illinois.

Data transfer

Helping agencies share information through the transfer of data continued to be a key aspect of the CIMIS program. In addition to the data transfer involved with the livescan interface, CIMIS has continued to expand data transfer to other areas and agencies. In 1996, Authority staff began working with the Social Security Administration and CIMIS clients on the transfer of data to help identify ineligible individuals still receiving Social Security benefits.

Cook County Department of Corrections

As the largest single jail in the country, the Cook County Department of Corrections is also the largest CIMIS site, with more than 80,000 inmate bookings per year.

During fiscal year 1996 the jail experienced continued expansion of programs and facilities, along with an increase in inmate bookings. CIMIS was able to accommodate the growth without incident or need to modify software. Monitoring and evaluation of the current system was conducted throughout the year. As part of the evaluation, Cook County corrections staff and CIMIS staff developed a joint work plan for the system. The work plan included recommendations for the purchase of additional hardware prior to further system expansion.
